HI, I'M ANGELICA!

An insight-driven, copy loving freak. Even if it involves boring a stranger to death with my briefs or diving deep down the Reddit rabbit hole.

I've spent the last 84 days learning to trust my gut, take risks and sell my idea like there's no tomorrow. I hope my journey reflects in what you see next, if not, I'm always up for a chat :)

My key takeaway?

Fáil as fast as you can. Keep it simple. Have fun with it.

HEALTHY HAIR HOTTIES

World's first support group for women with hair damaged by heat

Experiential Event An event where hair experts, lovers, enthusiasts, and people with damaged hair come together, get a check-up, get a revitalised day, get tips and tricks, learn about their hair, and more.

At the event, you can engage with other healthy hair hotties with similar hair types or even seek expert advice from hair experts with your hair type present at dedicated installations to provide optimum care.

You can get a revival treatment done using Cloud Nine products or even get products at discounted rates.

The insight

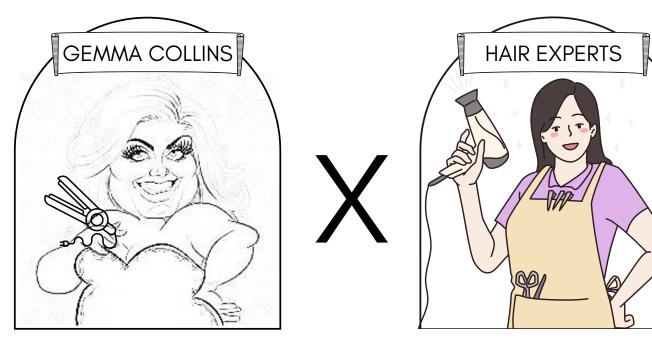

Over 80% of women have damaged their hair from heat and 91% continue to do so. No one really understands how this affects a person's self-esteem and shatters their confidence.

The idea

Cloud Nine makes history by creating the world's first support group for women with hair damaged by heat. The Healthy Hair Hotties is not just a cheeky support group—it's a hair-volution. One, that empowers women to wear their hair with confidence and gives them the reassurance they deserve. Because hairstyling should be healthy and fun, hun.

How can you enter this event? It's simple—complete the temperature calculator and show your unique hair-type code at the event box office. You'll then receive a colour coded-festival wrist band which you can use to engage with hair experts and other hotties.

The Support Queen

She's the UK's most relatable woman, a staple of HUN culture, and an advocate for diversity and inclusivity but most importantly, she's CAMP. She'll be the eyes, ears and mouth of the campaign.

The Go-To Queens

The go-to queens are a chain of hair experts, who share the same hair type as yours. Not only have they lived your experiences, but they've come out of it with healthy hair and how!

Post-event subreddit community

Anyone who aftends the event or purchases a Cloud Nine product automatically gains access to the world's first online support group community.

'Feeding on your terms'

The insight

New mothers just want to be left alone, in peace and away from all the unsolicited advice. They know what's best for their child and do not want to be judged on every little decision they make.

The idea

We want to empower and enable moms to make the decision they feel is best for THEMSELVES and their children. This is only possible once they feel reassured that what they feel is normal and does not need any judgements from anyone.

HERE TO STAY

The insight

A child's drawing is the ultimate stamp of approval. Whether it's her nanny, her brick or the new family car.

The idea

Investing in a car is like investing in over a decade's worth of memories. The 'Here to Stay' campaign will use the art direction of a child's drawing to imply that our cars are thoughtfully designed with you in mind, powered to take off to literally anywhere (within reason), but are also here to stay. Just like the memories.

Live digital billboards A series of images will be launched together, showing a child's drawing in different scenarios—creating a digital photo album of adventures. This would provoke potential buyers to imagine their future with their families.

Some of the other scenarios can be

- In the snow
- A casual school run
- In the terrain amidst a flock of sheep
- In a new country

Interactive billboards

Buyers can also send their child's drawing via the website to feature it on our digital billboards and on our socials.

POWERED TO TAKE OFF, BUT ALSO HERE TO STAY.

ON THE MONEY

The insight

The average person spends £21 a week on their work lunches, which equates to £1,092 a year.

Human truth

If you're spending so much money on food on the go you want it to taste good and have the best ingredients.

The idea Great flavours, No compromise.

locations people will look at even if they don't want to, especially on the move.

'Because the world is their oyster'

The insight

Gen-alpha are quite knowledgeable, self-aware, opinionated and mature for their age. They also want to express themselves, feel powerful, have fun and most importantly, be taken seriously.

The truth

Lego's Insider Club does exactly that. It empowers them to believe that the world is their oyster. They can do anything they wish or go anywhere they want in their life because they have the ability to do so.

The idea

To create a parent-child decision making process that will spark conversations in the most fun way and nudge children into thinking for themselves aka signing up for the Lego Insider's Club.

Using Instagram's tap and poll features to engage more children and parents and take them from attention to action within minutes, while sparking conversations.

Social reactive

Keeping an eye out for tweets, comments, reviews and responding to them.

PULSING WITH POWER

The insight

People who train hard, always have their eyes on someone who is doing better than them and the lingering thought that occurs is "how can I keep up with them?"

The idea

To show athletes that their own potential is limitless, once they have the boost they need.

For those on foot

Through AR on phone cameras, people would be able to see a bunch of athletes going absolutely bonkers, pulsing with supernatural power. Climbing, swimming, running; basically doing everything possible after consuming the SIS energy gels.

These billboards will be placed strategically at tourist locations with monuments in the backdrop, leading to 1000s of videos being organically hijacked by SIS.

For those on the move

The billboard would be designed in such a way that it looks almost titled or 'out of order' because the people who've drunk the energy gel are now pulsing with power.

THE GENESIS OF ELITE FITNESS

The insight

The sense of pride in being 'better than the rest' is common between gym owners and luxury fitness customers.

The emotion

Both gym owners and customers would love to be the first to work with SYMBIO—preparing them to be the best and differentiating them from the rest of the world.

The idea

In order to attract the elite, you need to have the elite. And SYMBIO is the elite.

Direct mail postcards

Painting the most desirable picture of the world's most premium trailblazers in the fitness space. Investing in the Symbio cardio range makes premium gym owners and investors the obvious talk of the town and go-to for the elite fitness enthusiasts.

THE GENESIS OF ELITE FITNESS

Since the beginning of time, humans ran within the confinement of their homelands.

The hills. The woodlands. The deserts.

As they evolved, they drove, rowed and flew to places to change the experiences underneath their feet.

Until 2024.

SYMBIO

Back

When cardio fitness reached its pinnacle, allowing humans to experience it all, within the confinement of their space, liking and comfort, with merely the touch of a finger.

With its advanced biomechanics, heightened sensory experiences and inspired design aesthetics, Symbio revolutionised fitness.

It had never been done before. Therefore, only the greatest pioneers embraced it boldly. And the rest as we know, is history.

LIVE ON THE LOOSE

'Have a mad moment'

The insight

Nights remind adults about their pending responsibilities. Mornings require adults to chase and complete said responsibilities. Therefore, they dread looking forward to the next day.

Human truth

Adult life can be shit sometimes. If people could travel back in time to their childhood, they'd do it in a heartbeat. No responsibilities, only fun and play.

The idea

Letting adults know that they deserve to have mad moments in life, and Honey Puffs can make those moments a tad bit sweeter. And helping them reconnect with their inner child and reclaim their playfulness.

Social

ONE FOR THE VOICES

A never-been-done-before party, in Leeds.

Experiential event

A never-been-done-before karaoke event in the world, where the singers are kids who have found their voice again.

It's a simple event where a large dual screen facing both, the singer (kids who learnt to read through Bookmark's volunteer programme) and the audience will be placed near the stage. The audience will sing along to the child's favourite song, making the karaoke a fun experience for both parties.

This wholesome event will aim to create an opportunity for more individuals to sign up after witnessing joy in these kids' eyes after being able to read and sing.

It's a special event to witness because not only have volunteers added life to the days of these kids but also days to their lives.

MILLENNIUM SQUARE, LEEDS

Organic social

Videos from the event can also be repurposed on social media and drive more earned media.

A fact

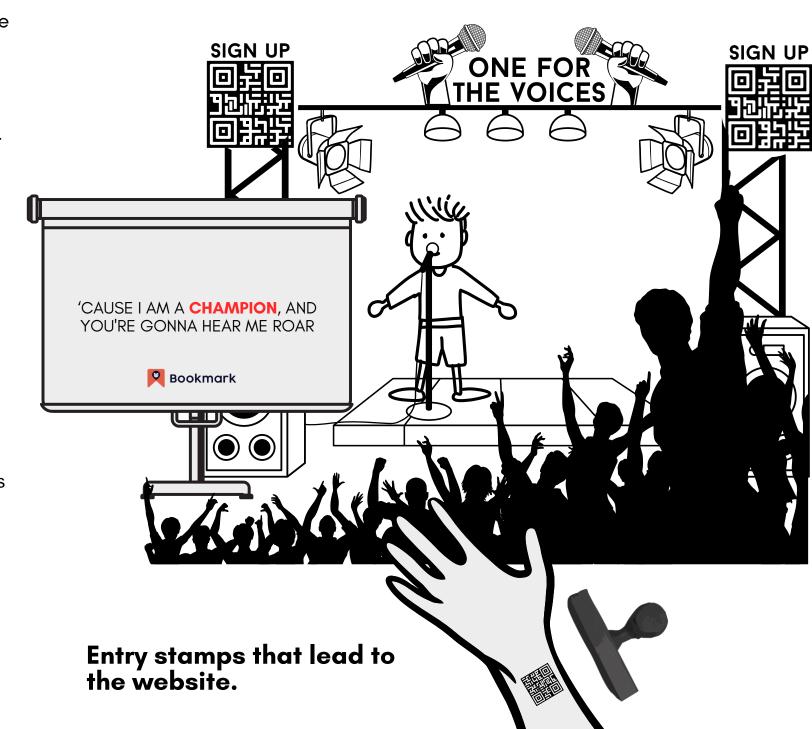

Karaoke nights are perfect for blowing off steam or just having fun. They combine relaxation, camaraderie, and musical merriment. Singing boosts neural connections and cognitive flexibility, making karaoke a great mental workout that enhances brain health and creativity.

A stat

Quarter of Britain's kids will never get a chance to experience the joy and reap the benefits of karaoke singing.

The idea

The people of Leeds love a good party. If it's new, unique and free, they'll be there. It's time we throw the most unforgettable, one-of-a-kind party for the people of Leeds on World Karaoke Day – 19th July {Friday evening ;) }

The insight

Kids nowadays don't know what it is to rake someone's yard for pocket money.

The idea

Taking the heritage route, Flymo can partner with City Councils and create a sense of work ethic in the youth. Not only does this bring back pride in the community but also keeps an age-old tradition alive AND makes Flymo the most relatable mower brand.

TLDR; get someone else to mow the lawn for you.

CSR case study video

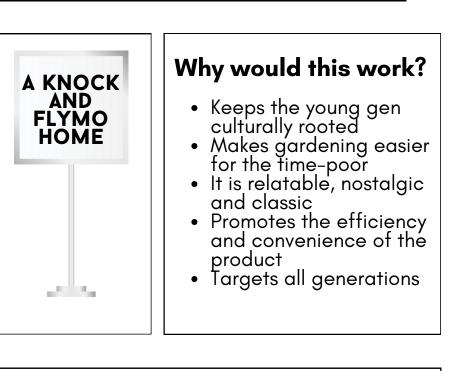

We get teen volunteers to knock and mow the lawns of aged folks or anyone whose lawn needs it, earn some pocket money, and foster personal connection's with their local community. We record their journey and create an organic social video ad.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS UCKTHE

Graffitiing monumental structures has been an age-old way of conveying an important social message which may represent the views of the wider community. Graffiti also lets people express themselves and rebel against societal norms.

This is a reason enough for a villain origin story.

So we did just that. Rebelled. in universities. But this was supposed to be a comeback story, innit?

After a whole day of chaos, cops and clicks, we graffiti the whole message. That still rebels, but against the 'full price' world. A twisted but sure shot way of gaining attention without making a hole in the pocket. And letting the TikTok gen do the rest.

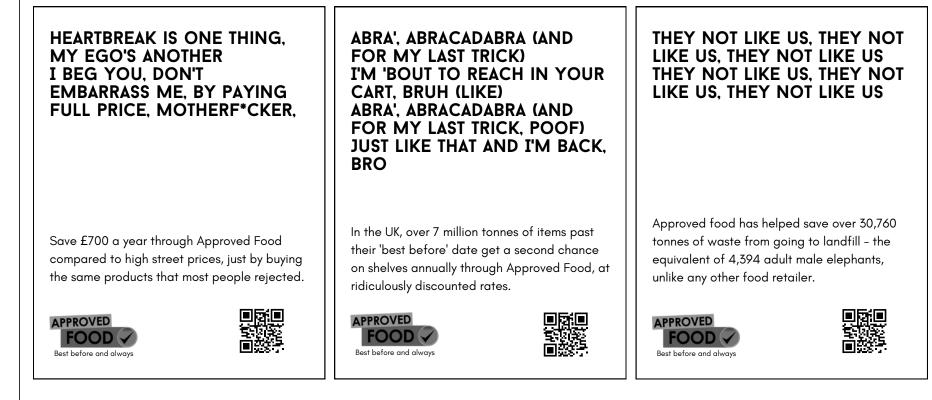

We will also use the BTS of this process for organic socials.

Posters

Because these products have fought adversity, resisted landfills, and are back on the shelf with new-found self-esteem, a tiny bit rough around the edges, but worth more for less.

Items at the front of the aisle are ignored, pushed aside and treated poorly because shoppers always reach for items with a later best before date.

Using trending songs from TikTok, Instagram and on the radio to share more information on Approved Food's USPs. These posters will be placed in Uni unions, cafes, libraries and behind toilet doors. I also thought of having impersonator singers and radio ads in the same format but we don't want Eminem suing us, do we? Or maybe he could get behind the cause, who knows?

Subject: Re: YOU'VE BEEN MARKED ABSENT - by the most discounted food retailer of all time.

Subject: Re: A BIG F*UCK YOU - to high street prices and tonnes of food waste.

Why would this work? 80% of millennial and 73% of Gen Z consumers consciously attempt to minimize waste. Moreover, 71% of Gen Zers would rather wait for a product to go on sale than buy at full price.
